Twenty-five citizens of outstanding character and ability began the Foundation to make grants, loans, and endowments to, or for the use of, any individual or organization operated exclusively for educational, scientific, literary or religious purposes.

The Foundation was originally funded by an anonymous gift of $102,000 followed shortly thereafter by a second anonymous gift of $85,000. Following the death of Mr. Price in 1956, his widow, Clara Price, assumed his role. She donated a gift to the Foundation of $106,000 in 1961. Since then the Foundation's assets have increased to over one million dollars through prudent investing and planning by its Trustees.
