Professionalism
Student Panel

Leona Fisher
Moderator

We often tend to associate professionalism with the workplace, but professionalism is equally important in the academic sphere. Professionalism is the key that opens the door to opportunity. A lack of professionalism can limit your opportunities and prevent you from reaching your full potential now and in the future.

Come participate in our discussion and learn how to hone your abilities to interact professionally with faculty, staff, and fellow students. Such preparation is essential not only for your success here at Chaffey but also for your success in the wider academic and working world.

Professionalism is about respect.

How do you show respect for the people in your academic environment: faculty, staff members and other students?

What kinds of requests are appropriate to make of faculty and staff? What kinds of requests are inappropriate?

What’s the best way to approach a member of the staff or faculty with a request?

How do you react when a faculty or staff member is not able to help you in the way you would like or as quickly as you would like?
