During this roundtable discussion, panel members will discuss their views of what makes a successful online experience and will address the following:

1. Describe the online experience from students’ views including comparing online to traditional face-to-face experiences. (For instructors this might be a chance to look at online experiences from the inside out rather than from the outside in as we often do.)
2. Share ideas about what would make (or has made) the online experience better and perhaps more enjoyable, etc.
3. Ponder responses to students asking for advice as they consider taking online classes.
