Getting Your Students To Write
(in any discipline)

Do your students need some motivation to write? Do they write their papers with a process, structure, tone, and/or format that doesn't fit your assignment? Do you want your students to better understand the objectives and goals of your writing assignment? If you answered "yes" to any of these questions or have other questions related to writing in your classes, come to this workshop and bring a writing prompt or project that you assign or want to assign to your students. We'll discuss strategies to get your students interested in writing and thinking critically about your discipline.
