Have you ever had a student throw out a loaded question that made you think, “OMG! How am I supposed to answer that question?” Do you have to discuss controversial or sensitive topics in your class? If so, join this interactive seminar as we create a safe space to discuss an effective framework, tools, and strategies for engaging students in productive conversations around difficult topics such as race, gender, sexual orientation, and other challenging topics. Participants will have opportunities to practice their new tools in the seminar.
