Achievements & Community Contributions by Classified Professionals

Classified Senate, See's Candy Fundraiser

Classified Senate will be doing another See's Candy Fundraiser for Easter since we had much success with it for the Holidays. Please be on the lookout for more information. All purchases will be able to be ordered online and shipped directly to the address given.

Classified Senate, Calculator Scholarship

During the fall semester Classified Senate offered math students an opportunity to win one of six TI-84 graphing calculators if they enrolled in specific higher-level math courses in the spring term. These calculators, valued at approximately $100 each, were given away by random drawing to students who simply applied, had registered for math, and maintained a 2.0 GPA. After verifying they met the criteria, the following winners were selected: Ramie Chaudhory, Tyshawn Cooper, Ruby Dimanno, Joseph Munoz, Eduardo Robles and Destinee Strong. Students received the calculators by visiting the Campus Store.

Trisha Albertsen, Accountant-Budgeting & Fiscal Services and Classified Senate President.

Trisha is participating in a five-part webinar series called Courageous Leadership. The series is an opportunity to support each other as we choose courage over comfort in leading Diversity, Equity, and Inclusion (DEI), and anti-racism efforts on our campuses. The series is a conversation with leaders from Cerritos College, Chaffey College, Foothill College, Compton College and Lake Tahoe Community College. Changing our organizational culture will take bravery and vulnerability. These conversations will not only lift up what is working in championing DEI and anti-racism on campuses, but also share how campuses are navigating challenges and supporting each other in our struggles. Through these webinars those in attendance will be closer to fulfilling the mission to provide opportunities to all who seek them and be a powerful force for breaking down systemic inequities that block too many students from attaining the career and life they want.
